Edwards Creative's Iowa Office Hosting a Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony & Open House

DUBUQUE, IA –When Edwards Creative moved its Iowa operations into the historic Bronson Mansion last October, they didn't just change their address—they started a new chapter in the heart of Dubuque's future. On April 30, 2026, the "Creative Dynamos" will host an official Ribbon Cutting and Open House for their newly enhanced studio and share how they are helping clients write their own next stories in bold, creative ways.

Since relocating their Iowa office, the Edwards team has been firing on all cylinders, balancing the physical transformation of their 3,500-square-foot creative suite with a demanding roster of high-profile regional work. Most notably, the firm has been deep in the "Concept to Creation" phase for the highly anticipated new Children's Museum for the Dubuque community, a landmark project set to redefine interactive learning and play in the Tri-State area.

The April 30th event serves as a formal reveal of the Suite 775 studio, which now stands as a living portfolio of environmental design, custom fabrication, and organizational graphics. The space demonstrates how Edwards Creative takes a singular idea and elevates it into an immersive reality. Experience Edwards.

"Last fall was about planting roots in a new city; this spring is about the stories growing from them," said Michael Edwards, Vice President of Regional Development. "While we've been busy enhancing our own space to reflect our brand's soul, we've been even busier getting landmark projects in motion for our neighbors. From the new Children's Museum to corporate environments across the region, we are officially ready to show Dubuque what happens when a story is elevated to the next level."
